Celebrating Women's History Month

Women's History Month is a time to reflect and celebrate the many contributions women have made in American culture and society. During March, there's no shortage of events and exhibitions to celebrate women's history, and we've collected some of the best NYC has to offer.

Artists of Today Exhibition

Join Artists of Today, an organization that supports new and emerging artists, for their next exhibition at West Chelsea Penthouse on March 23, where dozens of artists will showcase works inspired by heroic women and stories of perseverance.

Women's History Month Brunch

The FDNY and Fired Up for a Cure will host their 5th Annual Women's History Month Brunch at the NYC Fire Museum on March 4. The event will begin with a panel of survivors and caregivers, followed by a ceremony honoring victims of cancer and 9/11-related illnesses.

Dress for Success

Dress for Success connects low-income women with professional attire and vocational services to help them enter the workforce, comfortably look the part, and succeed in their positions. New Yorkers can donate here, or at the next donation drive on March 11.

International Women's Day Panel

Don't miss Dare to Run's International Women's Day Panel on March 8 at the Girl Scouts of Greater New York Center in FiDi, where a panel of women legislators from across New York will discuss the importance of running for office and how to get started.

New York Public Library's 31 Books for March

This year, the New York Public Library has curated a list of 31 must-read books by trailblazing authors who have inspired generations of women and girls. The list features a mix of fiction and non-fiction titles by Michelle Obama, Celest Ng, Tayari Jones, and many more.

For Kids: Construction at the Manor

On March 18, King Manor Museum and Tools & Tiaras will host Construction at the Manor, a full-day event where kids and teens will work together to build mini replicas of the historic manor. Throughout the year, Tools & Tiaras hosts interactive events and networking opportunities for young girls and teens interested in architecture and construction.

Run for Women | NYC

On March 5, Bluestone Lane, an Australian lifestyle and café brand, will host Run for Women, a three-mile walk/run beginning at their Chelsea Piers location. All proceeds will be donated to Girls on the Run, an organization that promotes active and healthy lifestyles in women and young girls.

The Met Annual Celebration of Women

The Metropolitan Museum of Art's annual Celebration of Women recognizes exemplary women leaders who have contributed significantly to social change. The event returns March 15 where this year's honorees include New York Governor Kathy Hochul. Attendance is free and includes festive drinks and small bites.
