Unleash Your Inner Chef!

With holidays and family gatherings on the horizon, there's no better time to sharpen your culinary skills! Whether you're prepping for a feast or just want to impress your friends, we've assembled a festive list of cooking classes in this week's NYC Lifestyle.

Baking with Sur La Table

Upscale cookware retailer Sur La Table hosts frequent in-person and virtual cooking classes. Check out their calendar of \$29 virtual classes, or attend an in-person holiday baking class at their Columbus Circle location. In-person classes start at $70.

Cooking for Kids

The Taste Buds Kitchen in Chelsea, Manhattan offers Junior Chefs cooking classes for children ages 9 to 13. This hands-on culinary program teaches essential kitchen skills for new chefs like chopping, mixing, and measuring, with a unique recipe to learn every week. Classes are held every Tuesday at 4:00 p.m. Tickets are $59.

Cooking 101

Home Cooking New York is known for its wide range of accessible classes for all skill levels where students work as a group in 2.5-hour sessions. Upcoming classes include Caribbean Flavors, "Great British Bake Off" Classics, and Korean Restaurant Favorites.

Homemade Hot Sauce

Stop by Brooklyn Brainery, a community-driven educational hub in Prospect Heights, for a Homemade Hot Sauce class. You'll learn how to source ingredients and refine recipes, and you'll even leave with your very own bottle! The class will take place on November 12 from 7:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $45.
