Let's Go Al Fresco!

There's so much more to dining al fresco than a simple picnic. From places to celebrate Taco Tuesday to waterfront eateries with magnificent views of the city, we encourage you to soak up the sun and dine in style at some of our favorite outdoor destinations.

Taco Tuesday at Tacocina

Located in Williamsburg's Domino Park, Tacocina is a next-level taco stand that overlooks the Williamsburg Bridge and the East River. Every Tuesday, guests can enjoy live music and half-off tacos and margaritas from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. The views get even better after the sun sets!

SERRA by Birreria

SERRA is a country-style Italian restaurant perched above Eataly's Flatiron location. "Serra" translates to greenhouse in Italian and the restaurant does not disappoint. The floral space has been described as a botanical oasis,

All Aboard Grand Banks

Inspired by 18th and 19th century oyster barges, Grand Banks is a stationary sailboat restaurant at Pier 25 in Hudson River Park. The restaurant is known for its sustainably-sourced oysters, but also offers a full menu of seasonal plates from acclaimed chef Kerry Heffernan.

Pizza Paradise in Brooklyn

Known for its brick-oven pizza, Roberta's is a renowned culinary gem in Bushwick, Brooklyn. Their trendy outdoor patio is filled with picnic tables fit for small intimate gatherings and large parties.

Let's Go Al Fresco!

Uptown Night Market

The Uptown Night Market is back for its third season and is bigger than ever! The monthly festival spans several blocks starting at 133rd Street along the Henry Hudson Parkway and features dozens of ethnic cuisines from around the globe, live music, and giveaways. Be sure to arrive with an appetite!

Ellington in the Park

Ellington in the Park is a two-floor bar and restaurant in Riverside Park overlooking the Hudson River. Located near 106th Street, it's a great spot to gather friends for a blissful summer evening, lite bites, and cocktails, especially during sunset hours. Also, dogs are welcome!

BBQ in Queens

Who doesn't love a summer barbecue? Flushing Meadows Corona Park in Queens has two designated barbecue areas and 24 charcoal grills, which is perfect for some family fun! Grab a picnic table and enjoy the outdoors with some hot dogs, burgers, and all the fixings while summer is in full swing!

Feast Among the Flowers

The Hudson Garden Grill is a delightful farm-to-table restaurant in the enchanting New York Botanical Garden. With ethically-sourced ingredients from local producers, this is a great spot to immerse yourself in the blossoms and enjoy a meal with loved ones. While you're there, be sure to wander the garden's collection of over one million plants and flowers.
